

Call for Papers

German Development Economics Conference and 1st Conference of the EDEG

Joint International Conference of the German Economic Association
Standing Field Committee for Development Economics (GDE)
and the
European Development Economics Group (EDEG)

Hosted by the Kiel Institute

June 11–12, 2026

Kiel, Germany

Featuring keynote addresses in plenary sessions, contributed papers in parallel sessions, and poster presentations, the event showcases the latest research and provides a forum for exchange among academics and practitioners. We invite interested contributors to submit their full papers by February 15, 2026, 23:59 CET via the online submission portal: <https://events.gwdg.de/e/gde2026>.

Authors will be notified of acceptance by the end of March 2026, with detailed information provided at that time. The conference will begin on the morning of June 11, 2026. Registration is €150 per participant and includes access to all sessions and refreshments.

Local organizers: Tobias Heidland and Rainer Thiele (Kiel Institute).

Funding for this event from the KfW – Development Bank is gratefully acknowledged.

Academic Program Committee:

Tessa Bold (University of Stockholm), Isabel Günther (ETH Zürich), Tobias Heidland (Kiel Institute), Krisztina Kis-Katos (University of Göttingen), Andreas Landmann (Marburg University), Jann Lay (GIGA), Sabine Liebenehm (University of Saskatchewan), Matthias Schündeln (Goethe University Frankfurt), and Rainer Thiele (Kiel Institute)

See also: www.entwicklungsoekonomischer-ausschuss.de.